To establish eligibility for reasonable accommodations as a student with a learning disability, one must submit current\(^1\) documentation by a professional diagnostician trained in the assessment of learning disabilities. The diagnosis should include:

- Diagnostic interview (i.e., educational, developmental, medical and relevant family history)
- Assessment\(^2\) in the domains of global intellectual functioning; academic achievement; and information processing (i.e., WAIS-II; Woodcock-Johnson Psychoeducational Battery)
- Specific diagnosis conforming to DSM-V-TR criteria
- Clinical summary, which includes recommendations for reasonable accommodations

Please forward these records to the following address:

Johnson & Wales University
8 Abbott Park Place
Providence, RI 02903

Attn: Ann Roccio, The Center for Academic Support

Any questions regarding these guidelines can be directed to Ann Roccio, Interim Director of The Center for Academic Support:
401-598-4689 (phone)
401-598-4657 (fax)
arocco@jwu.edu

---

\(^1\) Generally within the last three years
\(^2\) Neurological or psychological evaluation to illustrate a substantial limitation to learning. Please note that an IEP is not adequate documentation of a disability